WITNESSES SAW NO GUN ON WHITE

When Shot By John Bailey, They Say At Opening of Testimony
At Mt. Vernon Trial

Mt. Vernon, Ky., Aug. 27—Beverly D. White carried a suit case in his left hand and his overcoat over his right arm when he was shot down last April at Heidrick Station, Knox county, by John Bailey, mountain feudist, and family enemy of the Whites, two witnesses testified when evidence taking in the trial of Bailey on a charge of wilful murder began here Friday afternoon. The witnesses who testified to this were Luther Hutton and Joe Carthy, both of Knox county, and both eye witnesses of the slaying.

During the testimony, Bailey, a tall, slender youth, weighing perhaps 150 pounds, kept his light gray eyes constantly on the face of the witnesses. He sat quietly and silently, but never for a moment did he let his gaze wander. Joseph R. Murphy, a civil engineer was the first witness called after Special Prosecutor B. B. Golden told the jury that the prosecution would prove that White was shot down in cold blood and as a result of a prearranged plan by the Baileys. Golden declared that White did nothing to provoke the attack.

H. H. Owens, leading counsel for the defense, countered with a statement that the defense would prove that White attempted three times to draw a pistol before Bailey fired and that it was only after three such attempts that the defendant had shot and then only to protect his own life, which he believed to be in danger.

Murphy was called to the stand to verify a map of the scene of the shooting which he prepared for use of the prosecution in the case. The map purports to show the lay of the land at Heidrick Station and various spots involved in the case.

Luther Hutton, the second witness, testified that he was on the train with White. He said that the Baileys were on the same train and that White was alarmed over the situation before getting off at Heidrick Station. He said that he remarked to White that the situation looked dangerous and White agreed with him. He was not allowed to tell the jury what White said to him on the train. This caused an argument between attorneys and during this time the jury was out of the room. Hutton was allowed to state to the court what White said to him, and said that the victim of the shooting asked if he could remain on the train until the train to Middlesboro arrived and then step directly from the coach to the Middlesboro train. Hutton said that he told White that this could not be done and that the latter got off. This conversation was not allowed to go before the jury, however.

Hutton said that he remained on the train until the Baileys, White and the other passengers got off the rear end. The train had been in about fifteen minutes, he said, when he heard two shots. He looked, he said, and saw a Bailey firing at White. Hutton said that there was no passage of words between White and Bailey. He saw no pistol on White.

Joe Carthy, who had to be brought into court on an attachment, told much the same story as Hutton. He said that White was holding a suit case in his left hand and had an overcoat over his right arm when shot. One bullet went through White's hand and into the handle of the suit case. He said that he did not see a gun in White's hand.

The court room was crowded with a liberal sprinkling of women gathered to hear the testimony. Bailey sat beside his counsel and scarcely moved a finger all Friday afternoon. His father and brothers sat with him, but his mother, who was present during the first days of the attempt to get a jury, did not appear.

At the prosecution table sat Mrs. Cassie White, widow of the man Bailey killed; her three daughters and three sons and her brother-in-law, John G. White. Selection of the jury, in which four days were consumed, was completed with the naming of six talesmen Friday. They were: J.

L. Adams, farmer, of Hiatt; Cal McClure, farmer, Willialla; Richard Early, Mt. Vernon, former mayor; John Scott, teacher and surveyor, Bromo; W. G. Vias, farmer, Reckford; James Chas-teen, farmer, Disputanta. The six jurors accepted Thursday were: W. O. Yaden, merchant; Steve Albright, farmer; Alfred Owens, farmer; Mat Stevens, farmer; C. C. Shafer, merchant, and R. S. Shivel, farmer.

Court was adjourned at 5:15 until 8 o'clock Saturday morning. Circuit Judge Bethurum announcing that he wished to hasten the case as much as possible without holding night sessions.

BURGLARS LOOT AT RED HOUSE

Three Homes Robbed During Legion Picnic and a Quart of Real Whisky Is Stolen

Burglars took advantage of the American Legion picnic Thursday and while practically all the inhabitants of Red House were at Boonesboro, they made a wholesale robbery there. They entered both the residence and store of E. E. Davis and obtained loot at both places. The burglars first broke the kitchen window of Mr. Davis' residence and upon finding the kitchen door locked broke another window at the side of the house and stole about $8. They then broke a window and a pair of doors in entering the store of E. E. Davis where they confiscated a pistol and a knife. Upon entering the residence of Jay Lanter they stole a suit of clothes and some small change. Robberies are still a mystery.

H. P. Dykes suffered the greatest loss when the thieves took a quart of real red whisky, a pistol, and a necklace from his residence. When the robbers visited the home of Sam Biggerstaff they took a child's bank that contained about $10.

No clue has been found and the robberies are still a mystery.

The building has 22 rooms, the place is a modern and popular one and there are 139 acres in the tract that goes with the hotel."

The license for the other machine was in the name of Bert Baker, a partner of Coleman in a soft drink stand. Police said the number of the chassis was changed.

THESE ARE BUSY DAYS IN THE POLICE COURT

One who attends the sessions of the Richmond Police Court cannot but be impressed by the outstanding fact that Police Judge G. Murray Smith, Chief of Police Claude Devore and his efficient staff of patrolmen are "on the job." They are going after wrong doers without fear or favor, and it's faring hard with those who take a chance on violating the law and the ordinances.

Big crowds attend every session of court, and interest is very keen.

Friday afternoon and Friday night were no exceptions. A young man who had spent several days in jail on a charge of whipping his wife, decided to tell where he bought the liquor that "made him do it," and he named a white woman who lives in the east end of town. He said he had bought whisky from her twice. She vigorously denied the charge and was represented by an attorney. She was held to the grand jury under $100 on each charge.

Jim Beazley was given a fine of $50 and 10 days on a charge of hitting Bob Smith with a brick. Beazley did not show up in court and his bond was forfeited.

Tom Roberts and Will White were dismissed on a charge of using abusive language over the telephone.

Counsel for Beech Jett announced that he would appeal from a verdict of a jury which gave him $50 fine and five days for breach of the peace.

One man was given a fine of $10 and costs for speeding as it was his first offense. H. C. Rucker was given a fine of $25 and 10 days for furnishing liquor to a minor. Rucker said he gave a friend a drink but did not know he was under age.

OFFICERS CATCH MAN AT A STILL

Sam Pigg Arrested Near Berea and Distillery and Product
Are Destroyed

Federal Officers S. J. Cornett, J. M. Kavanaugh, and W. H. Kin-naird, accompanied by Deputy Sheriffs S. P. Bush and W. A. Johnson, made a raid on a still that was operated by Sam Pigg down a dirt road at the left of the Big Hill pike, near Hunter's store. They destroyed the still, poured out about 16 barrels of beer. They also poured out a vat of beer that they thought might have contained 300 gallons of beer. They made the raid on Wednesday.

When the officers arrived they say Pigg ran from the still to his father's house down the hill. P lost his hat in his hurried flight and when the officers returned it to him they took him into custody. The officers were not able to get out of him that he had helped in his business but it was quite evident that he had. Pigg is to appear at the October term of circuit court and also federal court and answer for moonshining.

A Raid In Rockcastle

A 75-gallon still, 300 gallons of "still beer" and other equipment were destroyed Thursday by prohibition agents in a raid near the border of Rockcastle county eight miles from Berea. The officers reported the raid to Director Sam Collins at Lexington.

The still was found near a large spring and about 300 yards from a residence. A well defined path led from the residence to the still, the officers declared. No arrests were made in connection with the raid as the house was vacant when the officers reached it.

Warrants for the arrest of persons living there will be issued shortly, Director Collins declared. Officers making the raid were John D. W. Collins, John F. Marcum and Jerome Tartar.

Bardstown, Ky., Aug. 27—A coroner's jury returned a verdict blaming the widow and daughter of Charles Vance, a farmer, who was found shot to death in his home near here August 18. Warrants are expected to be taken out today.

The verdict was reached after Dr. W. E. Crume, coroner of Nelson county, and several other witnesses had been heard. The inquest was resumed Friday before a large crowd. Several witnesses were examined last Monday.

The daughter, Allie Nolan Vance, is 14 years old, and has been punished by her father the morning before the shooting occurred.

Two months before he was murdered, Vance, a wealthy farmer of the Cox Creek section, wrote a will providing that his entire estate, estimated at about $35,000, should go to his wife. London, Aug. 27—David Lloyd-George, the British Prime Minister, Friday sent a prompt rejoinder to the letter of Eamon De Valera, "president of the Irish Republic," which rejected the British government's terms for peace in Ireland.

The Premier's note constituted a firm reiteration of the government's former standpoint that Ireland could not be permitted to withdraw from the empire. NAMES 'SHINERS WHO AMBUSHED OFFICERS

In Dying Statement Johnson
County Man, Tells On Others
In Murder Gang

(By Associated Press)

Paintsville, Ky., Aug. 27—John Dye and H. S. Stambaugh are blamed for the killing of James Melvin, Paintsville Chief of Police, and J. H. Reynolds, prohibition agent, in a dying statement made today by Patt McKenzie, said to have been a member of the gang. Mannel Fitzpatrick, assistant chief of police of Paintsville, was wounded. The shooting occurred while the officers were endeavoring to locate an illicit still in the vicinity of the McKenzie farm.

Five men are in jail here in connection with the killing. They include Hugh McKenzie, from whose cabin the ambushers fired, Ray McKenzie, Tollie King, Otto Young and Dennis Blevins.

Trapped in a deep hollow, surrounded by a heavy woodland, along Mud Lick Creek, four miles from Paintsville in Johnson county, John H. Reynolds, revenue man, and James Melvin, marshal of Paintsville, were shot and instantly killed by moonshiners in a pitched battle Friday morning. Two others were wounded, one fatally, and five are in jail, charged with the crime.

Deputy sheriff Mannel Fitzpatrick, a member of the raiding party, was seriously wounded. He was brought to the hospital at Paintsville, where an examination showed that he was shot through the body, the arm and suffered a scalp wound.

Hugh McKenzie, said to have been one of the moonshiners, is also in a hospital in Paintsville, fatally wounded. McKenzie was shot through the abdomen twice and is expected to die within the next 24 hours.

Five others are in jail in Paintsville, charged with the killing of Reynolds and Melvin and the wounding of Fitzpatrick. Those now in custody are Jesse McKenzie, Ray McKenzie, Otto Young, Denny Blevins and Tollie King.

A posse is scouring the mountains for several other men said to have been members of the party which ambushed the group of officers.

Details of the shooting received in Lexington at the office of State Prohibition Director Sam Collins were that little was known other than that Reynolds had been shot to death.

The party of officers left Paintsville early and had progressed but four miles up Mud Lick creek when they were trapped.

They were following the creek bed when the shooting occurred and were in a deep hollow surrounded by a heavy woodland. From the sides of the creek the moonshiners poured several volleys into the ranks of the officers. Reynolds and Melvin were killed instantly. Deputy Fitzpatrick was wounded on the second volley.

Lying on the ground he returned the fire, and according to his story, when brought to the hospital, wounded Hugh McKenzie.

The moonshiners had shotguns and high-powered rifles. Reynolds was killed by buckshot, which riddled and badly tore his body. Melvin's body contains buckshot, though he was also struck by several rifle bullets.

Agent Reynolds was one of the most efficient men of the force, according to his comrades in the work. He had gained a wide reputation as a "raider," and had engaged in active work both in eastern and western Kentucky. Previous to his assignment to Lexington, six or seven months ago, he had been attached to the Louisville office.

His home is at Pikeville and he was 42 years old. During the years he had served on the revenue forces he had gained a reputation for fearlessness and daring.

Years ago he participated in the Wright-Reynolds feud in Letcher county. According to fellow officers he is reputed to have killed eight men or more during his career.

Drs. Hume and Williams bandaged it sufficiently to allow Jim to remain in the game.

Baskett, the man that broke up the game with his double to right was the same "student" who knocked the liner in the Winchester-Irvine game that was misjudged, as was his, Thursday.

Eddie Thoss is still going good but could do nothing with Jim.

Barker had the Hustlers hugging the sacks at all stages of the game. His arm was in perfect condition.

Wait until Winchester hooks up with Harlan, then we will see some tall scrapping. Ballou, the star Harlan pitcher, who is a member of the Normal staff, made McCourt and VanWinkle look like babies at the Normal this season. They are considered stars with the Hustlers. Look out, Ellis.

The Hustlers made all their errors on wild heaves.

The locals hope to get another chance at the Hustlers before the season is over.

Barker has been criticised for not sliding into second when he tried to stretch his single into a double, but McCourt made a fine catch of the throw. Barker said he didn't see where the ball was.

Old time Blue Grass League fans rubbed their eyes again when they saw Eddie Thoss and Wild Bill Ellis cavorting about the pastures with the youngsters. Both saw service in the Blue Grass League ten or fifteen years ago and from the high class brand of ball they put up, it is evident that neither has suffered from advancing age.

Undoubtedly the niftiest backstop seen here in a long time in a Richmond uniform was Barker. This lad is the regular Irvine catcher, and will probably see the big leagues in a year or so, as Louisville already has him reserved for next year. He has a wonderful arm and is as quick as lightning.

The game against the Hustlers was the first opportunity local fans have had to see "Pete" Hisle in action since he won high baseball honors as captain of the Washington and Lee University diamond squad. Hisle acquitted himself well on the green and showed a strong arm in his pegs to first base. He didn't hit much against Schulte, but no one did, for that matter.

The Legion boys had the diamond in splendid shape, having rolled it well. The outfield was very rough, though, and a number of extra base hits were secured solely because of unexpected angles the sphere would take on the first bounce.

Billy Millard made a hard try for the long fly that Ellis sent to center field, and if it hadn't hit a car, he would undoubtedly have sacked it.

Mr. John Herndon attended the pure bred sheep sale at Lexington Wednesday and was the purchaser of a very fine Hampshire ram at a fancy figure.

MOTHER GAVE IT

Virginia Lady Suffered With Aches and Pains Until Mother Began Giving Her Cardui.

Dublin, Va.—Miss Mary Alice Hughtett residing on Route 2, near here, recently told a visitor of her interesting experience with Cardui. Miss Hughtett said: "I had been suffering for some time with painful... I was pale, didn't feel like going. Would just drag around, and couldn't rest to do any good. I would suffer once a month with my back, sides and head. My limbs would ache and I didn't know what to do, but I knew I must do something, for I didn't get well by letting it run on."

"My mother is a believer in Cardui, for she saw what it did for others as well as herself, so she began giving it to me."

"It wasn't long before I saw a change. It was just what I needed. It regulated me. I began to eat and sleep, and the pain stopped."

"Cardui is without doubt the best female tonic made, and I am glad I can recommend it to others."

If suffering with symptoms such as Miss Hughtett mentions, or other ailments peculiar to women, why not begin Cardui at once? Its merit is well established by successful use for more than 40 years.

Frank Frisch, of the Giants, who is burning the paths with his speed added three bases to his string and is showing the way to the base stealers with 42 thefts.

The former records was made by Gavy Cravath, who while a member of the Minneapolis club in 1915, registered 29 homers. Art Butler, also of Kansas City, is topping the batters with an average of .390, while Kirke, of Louisville, is pushing him with .389.

IF ALL BUSINESS MEN ADVERTISED--

What an awful confusion would be heaped upon the publishing business!

Because the vast majority of business men do not advertise, those who do secure results which soon enable them to distance competitors.

Industrial records show that there is a vastly larger percentage of failures among non-advertisers than advertisers.

Not everything that is called advertising is advertising which sells the goods.

Newspaper advertising offering seasonal goods at fair prices at certain definite stores will always move the goods.

Our local retail shops prove this beyond a doubt.

Advertising is not an expense in the way non-advertisers look upon it, but it is paid for from the increased traffic which it creates.

NOTES OF THE BIG GAME

Jim Park turned his ankle on the first sack in the eighth inning after he had singled to right.

Drs. Hume and Williams bandaged it sufficiently to allow Jim to remain in the game.

Baskett, the man that broke up the game with his double to right was the same "student" who knocked the liner in the Winchester-Irvine game that was misjudged, as was his, Thursday.

Eddie Thoss is still going good but could do nothing with Jim.

Barker had the Hustlers hugging the sacks at all stages of the game. His arm was in perfect condition.

Wait until Winchester hooks up with Harlan, then we will see some tall scrapping. Ballou, the star Harlan pitcher, who is a member of the Normal staff, made McCourt and VanWinkle look like babies at the Normal this season. They are considered stars with the Hustlers. Look out, Ellis.

The Hustlers made all their errors on wild heaves.

The locals hope to get another chance at the Hustlers before the season is over.

Barker has been criticised for not sliding into second when he tried to stretch his single into a double, but McCourt made a fine catch of the throw. Barker said he didn't see where the ball was.

Old time Blue Grass League fans rubbed their eyes again when they saw Eddie Thoss and Wild Bill Ellis cavorting about the pastures with the youngsters. Both saw service in the Blue Grass League ten or fifteen years ago and from the high class brand of ball they put up, it is evident that neither has suffered from advancing age.

Undoubtedly the niftiest backstop seen here in a long time in a Richmond uniform was Barker. This lad is the regular Irving catcher, and will probably see the big leagues in a year or so, as Louisville already has him reserved for next year. He has a wonderful arm and is as quick as lightning.

The game against the Hustlers was the first opportunity local fans have had to see "Pete" Hise in action, since he won high baseball honors as captain of the Washington and Lee University diamond squad. Hise, acquitted himself well on the green and showed a strong arm in his pegs to first base. He didn't hit much against Schutte, but no one did, for that matter.

The Legion boys had the diamond in splendid shape, having rolled it well. The outfield was very rough, though, and a number of extra base hits were secured solely because of unexpected angles the sphere would take on the first bounce.

Billy Millard made a hard try for the long fly that Ellis sent to center field, and if it hadn't hit a car, he would undoubtedly have sacked it.

Mr. John Herndon attended the pure bred sheep sale at Lexington Wednesday and was the purchaser of a very fine Hampshire ram at a fancy figure.

MOTHER GAVE IT

Virginia Lady Suffered With Aches and Pains Until Mother Began Giving Her Cardui.

Dublin, Va.—Miss Mary Alice Huggett residing on Route 2, near here, recently told a visitor of her interesting experience with Cardui. Miss Huggett said: "I had been suffering for some time with painful . . . I was pale, didn't feel like going. Would just drag around, and couldn't rest to do any good. I would suffer once a month with my back, sides and head. My limbs would ache and I didn't know what to do, but I knew I must do something, for I didn't get well by letting it run on."

"My mother is a believer in Cardui, for she saw what it did for others as well as herself, so she began giving it to me."

"It wasn't long before I saw a change. It was just what I needed. It regulated me. I began to eat and sleep, and the pain stopped."

"Cardui is without doubt the best female tonic made, and I am glad I can recommend it to others."

"If suffering with symptoms such as Miss Huggett mentions, or other ailments peculiar to women, why not begin Cardui at once? Its merit is well established by successful use for more than 40 years."

BRIEF MAKES NEW HOME RUN RECORD

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Rogers Hornsby got back into his batting stride during the last week. The Mound City favorite strengthened his position at the head of the National League hitters who have participated in 70 games or more, by boosting his mark ten points to 414. George Kelly, the hard initial sack guardian of the New York Giants, discovered another home run bat, and as a result banged out two homers, and brought his total for the season to 22.

Frank Frisch, of the Giants, who is burning the paths with his speed added three bases to his string and is showing the way to the base stealers with 42 thefts.

The veteran, George Cutshaw, is the runner-up to Hornsby for batting honors, with an average of .340, while Ed Rousch, of Cincinnati, is in third place with .348. Other leading batters: Cruise, of Boston, .343; Mann, St. Louis, .343; Young, New York, .342; Fournier, St. Louis, .339; McHenry, St. Louis, .338; Bigbee, Pittsburgh, .337; Meusel, New York, .330; C. Williams, Philadelphia, .329.

Babe Ruth is steadily nearing his record mark of 54 circuit drives made last year. The big Yankee slugger smashed out three four-ply blows during the last week, which brought his total to 48 for the games up to and including Wednesday.

The American League batting list is topped by Harry Heilmann, the hard hitting Detroit outfielder with a mark of .403. Ty Cobb is the runner-up with a mark of .392. Other leading batters: Sisler, St. Louis, .366; Tobin, St. Louis, .365; Speaker, Cleveland, .362; Veach, Detroit, .348; Williams, St. Louis, .342; E. Collins, Chicago, .341; Strunk, Chicago, .336; Pratt, Boston, .332; O'Neil, Cleveland, .332; Rice, Washington, .331; Severid, St. Louis, .330; Hooper, Chicago, .337.

Bunny Brief, of Kansas City, set a new record for home runs in the American Association last Wednesday, when he drove out his 30th circuit clout. The former records was made by Cavy Cravath, who while a member of the Minneapolis club in 1915, registered 29 homers. Art Butler, also of Kansas City, is topping the batters with an average of .390, while Kirke, of Louisville, is pushing him with .389.

Good Sale in County

A large crowd attended the sale of Mary Haynes, colored, on the Barnes Mill pike Saturday. Long Tom Chenault made things hum and the following prices were realized: Shoats weighing 40 pounds at $8.50 per head; brood sows $25 to $30 a head; two barrow hogs $20 each; milch cows $65; horses $70 to $75 each. Farming implements sold well.

over the County Judgeship in which B. M. Williams and C. L. Huff are suing M. W. Howard, who won in the lower courts. Howard was nominated on the republican ticket in the primary election August 6, by a margin of less than 100 votes. The other suits were from Laurel county, where G. W. Swamer is contesting the nomination of W. H. Barnett as republican candidate for jailer, and from Marion county, where W. H. Thurman is contesting the nomination of Willie E. Alvey for the democratic nomination for jailer.

HOW WALAPAI CLARK ENDED "THE APACHE TERROR"

Although the worst Indian war in Arizona ended in 1883, when Chief Geronimo surrendered to General Miles, ten years later a lone Apache warrior was still carrying terror to the hearts of the settlers in that state. The Apache Kid was his name. He had once been a scout for our troops; then his "heart went bad"; he deserted his command and joined the hostiles. When Geronimo surrendered, the Apache Kid "stayed out" and took the lone war trail. Late in the '90's a prospector named Jack Clark located a claim near Condon in the Santa Cataline mountains north of Tucson. Clark had been a scout for the government in the Apache campaigns. He had lived among the Walapai Indians for many years and bore the nickname of "Walapai" Clark. One night an old pack mare of Clark's was stolen and the trail showed that it was the work of a lone Indian. Clark felt sure it was the Apache Kid.

"Walapai" knew that unless the Indian kept the mare securely tied she would escape and come back. A week later she returned. Believing that the thief would not give up such a valuable animal so easily, Clark prepared for his return. That night he staked the mare out in a little park and concealed himself in the tall grass nearby. After hours of waiting, the scout saw an Indian's head appear above the grass at the edge of the clearing. A second later another appeared, and both Indians crept toward the horse. There was a full moon and Clark could not miss. He fired the first Indian dropped. Like a flash the other sped for the woods. "Walapai" fired again. The Indian stumbled, almost fell and then disappeared. When Clark reached the dead Indian, he found she was a squaw. The cowardly Kid had made her go ahead so that she would receive the deadly bullet if they were entering an ambush.

Clark knew better than to hunt for the wounded Indian that night. The next morning he led a large party on the trail. Here and there they found spots of blood and further on a bloody headband. But they never found the Apache Kid. His fate is unknown, but it is believed that he crawled away into one of the many caves in the Santa Catalinas to die. At any rate his raids ceased. "Walapai" Clark had ended "The Apache Terror."

THEY FORCE YOU TO VOTE IN ARGENTINA

(By Associated Press) Buenos Ayres, Aug. 26—Students of American politics who have observed the operation of the compulsory registration and voting law of Argentina have discovered that a large number of persons registered and entitled to vote in that country still keep away from the polls.

Although penalties are imposed by the Argentine law, its strict enforcement has been found impracticable, especially in the large population centers. The cases of failure to vote are still so numerous that the courts would be clogged with them if they did not accept the excuses of thousands who plead inability to vote because of illness, absence from home or other reasons.

Nevertheless, the Argentinians believe the combined features of compulsion and secrecy in the law, which was adopted in 1911, have proved a success because under its operation, the number of voters has increased to more than 68 per cent.

The law requires the registration of every male citizen of 18 years for the purpose of voting coincidentally with his registration for military service. It imposes a fine of 10 pesos or 48 hours' imprisonment for failure to cast a ballot at a national election.

Young Mountain Farmers

St. Helens, Ky., Aug. 27—More than 125 farm boys and girls from Powell, Lee and Owsley counties, recently attended the four-day junior agricultural club camp planned for them by the club department of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, which co-operated with county agents. Recreation, education, and inspiration for the youngsters featured the program of the outing, according to T. H. Jones, county agent.

The ratification of the peace treaty between the United States and Germany means that the American troops will be withdrawn from the Rhine.
